Hobo King Cautions Youths That Freights Are Too Tough Today

CHICAGO.—Jeff Davis, 65-year-old international king of the hobos, advised youngsters to "get tied to your mother's apron strings."

"It don't do any good to try and fish a freight today," Davis said. He said. "They've made these new trains dangerous near impossible to ride."

Davis said his organization, the International Knights of the Road, has made most of its efforts lately in trying to keep youngsters off the road.

"Whenever I talk to a bunch of kids, I tell them to stay at home," he said. "I tell them to stay tied to their mother's apron strings. You know, once those strings get broke, all the tiredest in the world ain't going to sew them together again.

"On my last trip I hit clean out to the coast and then hit back to Washington where we got a lobby. I asked the big guys at Washington when they thought was cheaper—to spend a little money to show kids this country or to have them hit the road on their own and maybe end up in jail."

He said he thought the kids ought to be sent as guests of the nation to see the sights of the nation, then they would be more likely to stay at home afterwards.

"It's not encouraging to hit the road today," he sighed. "You can't ride the trains like you used to. I've traveled around the world six times and gone more than three million miles. Of all that traveling I only paid for about 120,000 miles.

"I've dipped a lot of trains in my day," he said, "but you can't do it on these modern trains."

Railroaders' English Stumps Professors but Not Brakemen

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The caller toad told the head chunk and the hog head that something was wrong on the crummy so that Annie was delayed a few hours.

Confused? You well might be—unless you're a railroader.

These are just a few of the slang phrases used by railroad men. The sentence means: The car inspector told the brakeman and the engineer that something was wrong on the caboose so the Ann Rutledge train was delayed a few hours.

Although most of the train nick-names have been replaced by numbers, railroadmen still refer to the "Annie" and the "Abe" instead of the Ann Rutledge and Abraham Lincoln trains running between Springfield and St. Louis and the "Doodlebug" traveling between Springfield and Beardstown.

Other railroad lingo terms are: the yardmaster, a "dinger"; the switchmen, "snipe" or "stingers," depending on their union affiliate; an engine not equipped with an automatic stoker, "armstrong"; an engine and caboose only, "caboose bounce," are an attentive telegraph operator, "dispatcher's delight."

New Yorkers Boo as Hitler's Car Is Unloaded at Pier

NEW YORK.—A chorus of hisses and boos greeted a special automobile, built on specifications ordered by Adolph Hitler, as it was swung to the pier from the hold of the liner Stockholm.

The black, 9,500-pound touring car, capable of speeds up to 135 miles an hour, is owned by Christopher G. Janus of Chicago, managing director of Eximport Associates, incorporated. He says it "looks as big as a house."

Designed by Hitler and manufactured by Mercedes-Benz, the car was given by Hitler to Field Marshal Mannerheim of Finland. Shortly after the Russians entered Finland it was sent to Stockholm. There Janus bought it in a barter deal. The machine has adjustable armor-plate and bullet-proof glass.

Janus, at the pier to receive the car, said he would drive it to Chicago.

"I don't know what I am going to do with it," he said.

"I have been trying for 18 months to get a car in the United States; it took just 20 days to buy Hitler's."

Janus declined to name the dollar value of the ball bearings for which the car was exchanged.

The Human Body Is More Complex Than an Automobile

You wouldn't take your car to a garage and refuse to tell the mechanic what was wrong. The mechanic would have every right to doubt your sanity. Yet people frequently refuse to tell the physician of their ailments. They are anxious to have an "unbiased opinion."

You can save time and expense by being frank with your physician. To do a competent job of diagnosis he needs the history of your symptoms. The human body is far more complex than an automobile. For the best results give him all the facts.

All we need is the physician's prescription. We are competent to compound it exactly as he specifies.

Summer Milk Slump Costs Farmer Plenty

"Summer slump" in milk production costs farmers plenty in good, hard cash. On the average farm there is about a 30 per cent drop from May until early fall.

Some of the loss in production arises because a higher percentage of cows are dry or approaching the end of their lactation period, but many dairy specialists believe that much of the loss could be prevented by better management.
